The value of water should be the Nation's #1
priority!

The nation's nearly 15,000 publicly owned treatment works and 52,000 community water systems provide vital, under appreciated services. No one can argue the importance of water and sewer service in maintaining public health, protecting the environment, and promoting economic development.

GOOD NEWS! Protecting America's water is the #1 goal of water and wastewater operators!

The U.S must embark on a discussion about solutions to protect OUR water and address health and environmental threats that are loom over water systems and communities across the country.
